Course Description

This course will introduce you to the practical elements of professional and technical communication. You will learn how to produce documents appropriate for workplace and academic settings that encompass both written and oral forms of professional and technical communication. Class assignments include practice in writing and speaking. The out-of-class assignments will contribute to your understanding of the course principles.

Additional Information

To get the most benefit from this course, I recommend that you attend all classes and participate actively in in-class activities.

Objectives of the Course

The objectives of this course are the following:

- Learning to communicate effectively through oral presentations and written documents
- Developing expertise in the mechanics of writing: spelling, grammar, and punctuation
- Preparing various forms of documents including reports, proposals, summaries, and cover letters
- Becoming competent in finding and analyzing reliable sources to be used for producing information for a variety of audiences and purposes.
- Learning document design techniques to create documents and websites that look professional and enable users to find and use information easily.

Textbooks and Readings

The following textbook is required for this class. You will need to do specific readings for a full understanding of course material and to complete the assignments.

Ewald, T. (2014). Writing in the Technical Fields. Don Mills: Broadview Press.

Both hardcopy and digital versions of this book are available in the bookstore. The library has a copy on reserve.

Internet and electronic communication device information

You are welcome to bring and use your laptop for assignments; however, the use of laptops for any purpose unrelated to this class is not acceptable.

Cell phones must be put away during class: texting, twittering, emailing, and so on are not permitted during class time. Please respect your classmates' right to hear class material.

Recording any part of any lecture in any form without permission is not permitted. Lecture slides will not be posted on the web. Photographing lecture slides is not permitted. These restrictions are due to copyright and intellectual property issues and are strictly enforced.

Assignments and Evaluation

Table 1, following, gives the assignments, due dates, and percentages worth.

Table 1: Assignments and Evaluation

Assignment	Due Date	Percentage Worth
Assignment 1 (individually graded)	July 8	10%
Assignment 2 (individually graded)	July 15	10%
Assignment 3 (individually graded)	July 22	10%
Assignment 4 (individually graded)	July 29	10%
Proposal and work plan due by end of class (group mark)	July 27	10%
Individual Literature Review	July 29	15%
Oral presentation on findings (group mark)	August 5, 10, 12	10%
Recommendations Report (group mark)	August 12	25%

Assignment Descriptions

Assignments 1 to 4

You will prepare a written piece on the technical topic of the day. For each of these assignments, you will be given time in class to prepare.

Assignment 1: understanding audience in professional correspondence

Assignment 2: creating an effective document design:

Assignment 3: writing a set of instructions

Assignment 4: creating effective presentations

These four assignments are done in class on the day assigned. They cannot be “made up” at a later date.

Group Proposal and Work Plan

Following the guidelines in Chapter 8 and working either on your own or the group you have chosen, you will conduct preliminary research and collaboratively write a five-page (single spaced, not including References list) proposal describing your final group project as well as a two-page (single spaced) work plan. The work plan needs to include each group member's contribution to the final project. Each person must do some researching, writing, and editing. Please include the steps given on pages 130-134 when preparing your work plan.

The proposal must be written in report format following the conventions of page design shown in the textbook and covered in class. Use whatever type of graphics will help your reader understand your content. For example, use a table or Gantt chart for your work plan.

Individual Literature Review

You will submit a short literature review (4 pages double spaced) that explores and expands upon some aspect of your final group project that you find intriguing. The paper should make evident what you have learned about compiling scholarly research, choosing and incorporating documentary sources, and presenting an argument in a clear, concise, and engaging manner. This research brief will demonstrate to your reader one of the focuses of your whole project. This review will contribute to your final project's quality and make it possible for your group to contribute to the final project's strength.

The Recommendation Report

Using the guidelines from Chapters 6 and 7, choose a website from the list that will be provided. Analyze this website using the resources suggested and those you have found yourself. After analyzing the website and discussing its strengths and weaknesses, describe ways that it can be improved upon.

You must do secondary research for this report, which you have gathered from the library. To make the report stronger, I recommend that you also do primary research (anonymous class survey on the website's usability). Your research findings will help you direct and organize your points. Assuming about 250 words per page, your report should be about 3000 words or 15 pages. This page count does not include the transmittal letter, cover page, table of contents, or references.

Presentation

During the final weeks of term, you will present your report to the class in a 15-minute presentation. You are evaluated on the professionalism with which you present in addition to the content of the presentation. Each student will speak for 5-6 minutes if working in a group. Individual presentations will be 10 minutes.

Registrar-scheduled Final Examination: None

Completion of Assignments

Except for Assignments 1 through 4, all assignments must be completed or a course grade of F may be assigned at the discretion of the instructor.

Submission of Assignments

Please hand in your assignments directly to your instructor if possible. If it is not possible to do so, a daytime drop box is available in SS320; a date stamp is provided for your use. A night drop box is also available for after-hours submission. Assignments will be removed the following morning, stamped with the previous day's date, and placed in the instructor's mailbox.

For this course, you must submit both a hard copy (paper) version of your assignment as well as a digital copy to D2L.

Please include your name and ID number on all assignments, and be prepared to provide picture ID to pick up assignments or look at final exams in SS 320 after classes have ended. Personal information is collected in accordance with the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIP) Act. For more information, see <http://www.ucalgary.ca/secretariat/privacy>

Note: It is your responsibility to keep a copy of each submitted assignment. For courses in which assignments are submitted electronically, it is your responsibility to ensure that the correct copy of the assignment is submitted. (Including the version date or version number in your file name may help you avoid submitting the wrong version of your written assignments.)

Policy for Late Assignments

Assignments submitted after the deadline will be penalized with the loss of a grade (e.g.: A- to B+) for each day late. If you are sick and so cannot submit your assignment on time, please provide a doctor's note. If other circumstances prevent you from submitting your assignment on time, please provide appropriate documentation and email as soon as possible.

Students with Disabilities

If you are a student with a disability who may require academic accommodation, it is your responsibility to register with the Student Accessibility Services (220-8237, <http://www.ucalgary.ca/access/>) and discuss your needs with your instructor no later than 14 days after the start of the course.

Writing Skills Statement

Department policy directs that all written assignments (including, to a lesser extent, written exam responses) will be assessed at least partly on writing skills. For details see <http://comcul.ucalgary.ca/needtoknow>. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc) but also general clarity and organization. Sources used in research papers must be properly documented. If you need help with your writing, you may use the Writing Centre. Visit the website for more details: <http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/writing-support>

Department of Communication, Media and Film Grade System

Each assignment will be graded using a percentage grade. The following grade scale percentage equivalents are used in the Department of Communication, Media, and Film:

Grade Point Value	Description	Grade	Department grade scale equivalents	Letter grade % equivalent for calculations
4.00	Outstanding	A+	96 - 100%	98.0%
4.00	Excellent—superior performance, showing comprehensive understanding of subject matter.	A	90 - 95.99%	93.0%
3.70		A -	85 - 89.99%	87.5%
3.30		B+	80 - 84.99%	82.5%
3.00	Good--clearly above average performance with knowledge of subject matter generally complete.	B	75 - 79.99%	77.5%
2.70		B-	70 - 74.99%	72.5%
2.30		C+	65 - 69.99%	67.5%
2.00	Satisfactory—basic understanding of the subject matter.	C	60 - 64.99%	62.5%
1.70		C-	55 - 59.99%	57.5%
1.30	Minimal pass—marginal performance; generally insufficient preparation for subsequent courses in the same subject	D+	53 - 54.99%	54.0%
1.00		D	50 - 52.99%	51.5%
0.00	Fail - unsatisfactory performance or failure to meet course requirements.	F	00 - 49.99%	0%

Plagiarism

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university.

You must document not only direct quotations but also paraphrases and ideas where they appear in your text. A reference list at the end is insufficient by itself. In-text citations must be provided, and readers must be able to tell exactly where your words and ideas end and other people's words and ideas begin. Wording taken directly from a source must be enclosed within quotation marks (or, for long quotations, presented in the format prescribed by the documentation style you are using). Paraphrased information must not follow the original wording and sentence structure with only slight word substitutions here and there. These requirements apply to all assignments and sources, including those in non-traditional formats such as Web pages or visual media.

For information on citation and documentation styles (including APA, Chicago, IEEE, MLA, and others), visit the links provided at <https://ucalgary.ca/ssc/resources/writing-support/436>. If you have questions about how to document sources, please consult your instructor or the Writing Centre (3rd Floor TFDL, <http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/writing-support>).

Academic Misconduct

For information on academic misconduct and its consequences, please see the University of Calgary Calendar at <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html>

Research Ethics

Whenever you perform research with human participants (i.e. surveys, interviews, observation) as part of your university studies, you are responsible for following university research ethics guidelines. Your instructor must review and approve of your research plans and supervise your research. For more information about your research ethics responsibilities, see <http://arts.ucalgary.ca/research/resources/ethics>

For this course, groups may choose to conduct a usability study to get their classmates' opinions of the usability of a website. The participants for this study are limited to the members of this class only. The study must be anonymous. This usability study is the exception to the ethics consent rule.
