Course Description:

This course will introduce students to the history and culture of the ancient societies of the Near East, from the origins of civilization in Mesopotamia to the fall of the Achaemenid Empire at the hands of Alexander the Great. We will also look at those societies that affected, and were affected by, the great Mesopotamian city states, including ancient Egypt, the Hittite Empire, and the smaller states of Phoenicia and Israel. We will explore these civilizations by reading a number of primary sources, analyzing inscriptions, and looking at archaeological evidence.

Expectations for student conduct in this course:

An academic environment thrives on open discussion and respect. I expect you to be respectful of the classroom, your fellow students, and the instructor, since only with such an atmosphere can we create a strong learning environment. To this end, please refrain from any disruptive behaviour such as arriving late or leaving suddenly and loudly, or talking in class while others are talking. Please ensure that your phone has been turned off before you come to class, that you have removed your earphones, and, if you are using a laptop, that it is being used for academic reasons relevant to the class. Refusal to abide by these rules will result in my asking you to leave the class. For the sake of all of us, please remember that if you can see and hear me, I can see and hear you.

Strong smelling lotions, perfumes, etc, often have a strong negative effect on many people. Please refrain from wearing strong-smelling perfume, cologne, or lotion to class or if you are coming to see me in my office, as I have a severe allergy to these things.

Electronic Device Policy:

No texting in class, please. If you are using a laptop (which is not always the most useful way to take notes), make sure it is being used for the class.

Syllabus:

A complete syllabus will be made available the first week of class.

Plagiarism is not tolerated at the University of Calgary and has serious consequences. Your essays/presentations must be your own work and inadequate referencing may be seen as plagiarism.
