COURSE CALENDAR STATEMENT:
An introduction to the academic study of religion with particular emphasis on the nature of religion, its role as a response to existential questions, and the relationship of religion to contemporary thought and culture.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:
Students will be introduced to the problems of studying religion as a living and lived phenomenon, beyond the dogmatized stylizations of any religion codified as an abstract cosmological system. The formation, perpetuation, and adaptation of religious worldviews within different societies and diverse anthropological assets will be complemented by sources which will deepen the students’ appreciation of religion not as a dogmatic apparatus, detached from the concreteness of human daily life, but as a practical system of thought (tending to coherence, but also comprised of contradictions and compromises) to help navigate the complexities of existence. Students will be encouraged to form critical and interpretive skills that will enable them to explore (in a spirit of inclusivity, constructive cultural relativism, and anthropological curiosity) the exceptional variety of religious attitudes as well as attitudes toward religion itself. Space will be given, towards the end of the course, to the consideration of how the natural environment is envisioned and considered by religious systems from an ethical perspective, in this age of human-driven climate change.
COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES
Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Know, understand, and discuss basic concepts in the study of religious traditions
2. Analyze a range of themes relating to the manifestation of religious experience through human societies and their artistic productions
3. Consider and evaluate critically the impact of religious systems on social and interpersonal behavior, as well as their influence on the definition of happiness and morality in human societies
4. Approach critically how different religious traditions have influenced the relationship between humans and the natural environment

MISSED OR LATE ASSIGNMENTS

If students miss a required component of the course, they must contact the instructor in writing within 24 hours to discuss options to submit and/or make-up for that component. Assignments submitted after the deadline may be penalized with the loss of a grade (e.g.: A- to B+) for each day late.

GRADING

The University’s grading system may be found in the calendar by following this link: https://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/f-1.html.

A numerical mark will be given for each course requirement. A letter grade will be assigned on the following grade scheme, usually used with the Department of Classics and Religion:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Numerical Range</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A+</td>
<td>96 – 100%</td>
<td>Outstanding performance</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>Excellent performance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A-</td>
<td>85 – 89%</td>
<td>Approaching excellent performance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B+</td>
<td>80 – 84%</td>
<td>Exceeding good performance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>75 – 79%</td>
<td>Good performance</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
B- 70 – 74% Approaching good performance
C+ 65 – 69% Exceeding satisfactory performance
C 60 – 64% Satisfactory performance
C- 55 – 59% Approaching satisfactory performance
D+ 53 – 54% Marginal pass
D 50 – 52% Minimal pass
F 0 – 49% Failure

When the final grade for the course is calculated, the calculated numerical mark will be rounded up or down to the nearest whole number before being converted to a letter grade. It is not necessary to pass each assignment separately in order to pass the course. A student’s final grade for the course is the sum of the separate assignments.

EXPECTATIONS FOR WRITING

All written assignments (including, to a lesser extent, written exam responses) will be assessed at least partly on writing skills. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc.) but also general clarity and organization. Sources used in research papers must be properly documented. If you need help with your writing, you may use the writing support services in the Learning Commons.
