INSTRUCTOR EMAIL POLICY:
I will do my best to respond to emails sent via students’ @ucalgary emails within 48 hours. Please note that course communications will be sent to your @ucalgary email.

COURSE CALENDAR STATEMENT:
An introduction to the academic study of religion with particular emphasis on the nature of religion, its role as a response to existential questions, and the relationship of religion to contemporary thought and culture.

Course Hours: 3 units; (3-0)

Antirequisite(s): Credit for Religious Studies 205 and 350 will not be allowed.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:
This course examines the way religious beliefs and practices in a range of traditions propose conceptual and practical solutions to what John Milton Yinger has called “the ultimate problems of human life.” How do religions model different versions of the good life and what kinds of attitudes and actions do they associate with human thriving? After a brief introduction to the problem of defining religion, we will consider religious understandings of the self or its absence, ideas regarding salvation and enlightenment, strategies for fending off evil, and methods for connecting with the divine or ultimate... reality. Reformulated as questions, these topics concern issues such as: Who are we and why are we here? What is happiness and how do we attain it? Why do bad things happen and what can we do about it? And how is human existence related to some sort of transcendental reality? Religious traditions studied will include African traditional religions, Buddhism, Hinduism, Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. An ability to analyze primary sources – which include, among other things, images, symbols, religious objects, and rituals – is fundamental to the academic study of religion. In order to develop this skill, each synchronous session will use primary sources to explore the way religious traditions represent human thriving and its obstacles. Pre-recorded lectures and readings from Understanding World Religions will provide background information about each tradition.

COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to:

Knowledge:

- Compare and apply academic definitions of religion
- Identify the understandings of self, salvation/enlightenment, evil, and divine connection associated with each of the six religious traditions covered by the course
- Recognize and interpret important texts, images, symbols, and performances from each of the traditions covered

Skills:

- Apply basic methods of textual and visual analysis important in the study of religion
- Analyze the way an excerpt of scripture, image, symbol, or ritual performance expresses a religious tradition’s conception of human thriving

LEARNING RESOURCES

Required text(s):

Additional weekly readings will be posted to D2L.

LEARNING TECHNOLOGIES AND REQUIREMENTS

To access the course readings on D2L and submit assignments, you will need to use a computer with internet access. During class, we will use TopHat as one mode of participation. To participate via TopHat you will need a device with a web browser and an internet connection. If COVID-19 protocols move our class to Zoom, you will need access to a computer that has the following:

- A computer with a supported operating system, as well as the latest security, and malware updates;
- A current and updated web browser;
- Webcam (built-in or external);
- Microphone and speaker (built-in or external), or headset with microphone;
- Current antivirus and/or firewall software enabled;
• Broadband internet connection.

Kritik
This term, we will be using Kritik, a peer-to-peer learning and evaluation platform, to conduct our primary source analysis assignments. It is an engaging and gamified web platform that helps you develop your critical thinking skills according to Bloom’s Taxonomy.

Each Kritik activity has 3 unique stages:
Stage 1: Create → Follow the instructions, read the provided rubric and create a submission
Stage 2: Evaluate → Anonymously score your peers based on a rubric, and provide written comments
Stage 3: Feedback → Provide peer evaluators anonymous feedback on how motivational/critical their comments were

Grading
When you participate in Kritik activities, you will receive 3 scores: Creation score, Evaluation score and Participation score. Together, these will add up to 3% of your final course mark. To understand what these scores mean and exactly how they are calculated, please read the section How Scoring Works in Kritik’s help center.

Registration/Support
An email invitation will be sent to your school email account that contains the link to register for a Kritik account and enroll in the course. You MUST use your university email to sign up in order to access the course. If you did not receive any email yet, please contact Kritik using the live chat button on their website.

How to get help: If you have any questions about Kritik, please use the live chat in the app. A human agent will respond promptly in a few minutes during business hours. You can also visit Kritik’s help center which should address any questions you have about the platform.

CLASS SCHEDULE
A detailed course schedule will be provided on the first day of class.

EXAMINATIONS
This course will have a registrar-scheduled final exam. The exam will be non-cumulative. As soon as the final exam schedule is made available by the university, I will post the date to D2L, and we will hold a review session for the exam on April 12th.

ASSESSMENT COMPONENTS
Your learning in this course will be assessed in the following ways:

1. Class participation (6%)
   Your engagement with the course material and your contribution to our class sessions is crucial to your success in the course, as well as to the learning of your peers. For more information about how participation will be evaluated, please see the Participation handout in D2L.

2. Kritik assignments (3 x 8% = 24%)
This semester, we will read documents (primary sources), such as excerpts from scripture or ritual texts, from each religious tradition we study to help us understand how those traditions express their understanding of the good life. To practice analyzing these primary texts, you will complete three short writing assignments during the semester. Each writing assignment will ask you to compose several paragraphs that use the elements of analysis in response to prompts. You will submit these writing assignments via a platform called Kritik, which facilitates an anonymous peer review process. Thanks to the University of Calgary’s participation in a pilot program, your access to Kritik will be free. For more about how Kritik works, please see the learning technologies section of the syllabus. Each Kritik assignment will be worth 8% of the final grade, for a total of 24%.

3. Midterm exam (35%)

We will conduct our midterm exam on Tuesday, March 1st. The exam will likely consist of a combination of multiple-choice questions, short answer questions, and essay questions. I will provide more information closer to the date.

4. Final exam (35%)

Our final exam will be scheduled by the registrar. It will be non-cumulative and will likely consist of a combination of multiple-choice questions, short answer questions, and essay questions. I will provide more information closer to the date.

MISSED OR LATE ASSIGNMENTS
Kritik Assignments will be marked down by 1/3 of a letter grade for each day they are late (e.g.: A- to B+). Once a Kritik Assignment has passed from the Create Stage to the Evaluation Stage, a written assignment can no longer be submitted.

If health or family crises emerge that impact your ability to meet course deadlines and the above options are not sufficient, please email me so that we can work together to find a solution.

GRADING
A numerical mark will be given for each course requirement. A letter grade will be assigned on the following number and letter grade scheme, usually used within the Department of Classics and Religion:

N.B. All written assignments will be graded with regard to both form and content.

EXPECTATIONS FOR WRITING
I will provide a handout and rubric for each written assignment.

ADDITIONAL COURSE INFORMATION

ATTENDANCE AND PARTICIPATION EXPECTATIONS
Students are expected to attend class regularly and to be fully present and engaged in class activities and discussions. These are part of the participation grade, as outlined in the assessment components section above. Class participation marks cannot be made up. However, each student gets one free unexcused absence. Please see the participation handout for more information.

CONDUCT
During class discussions and activities, I expect each member of the course to help me create a positive learning environment by listening respectfully to each other, using transitions (“As Julia said, I think...”), “I agree/disagree with Mohad because...”, “I want to build on that idea...”), and by refraining from statements that signal judgment. We will be discussing material that can be sensitive and about which members of the course may have strong feelings. For this reason, all members of the class will be asked to use vocabulary that signals observation, description, analysis, scholarly argument, and hypothesis formation.
Students, employees, and academic staff are also expected to demonstrate behaviour in class that promotes and maintains a positive and productive learning environment. As members of the University community, students, employees, and academic staff are expected to demonstrate conduct that is consistent with the University of Calgary Calendar, the Code of Conduct and Non-Academic Misconduct policy and procedures, which can be found at: http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html

USE OF INTERNET AND ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATION DEVICES IN CLASS
Electronic devices are allowed in this course and will sometimes be used for in-class activities. (I, too, after all, will have my laptop with me to provide PowerPoint presentations and my phone so I can use its timer to keep our activities on track.) I do, however, expect that all members of the class show respect to their fellow students and the instructor(s) by not wearing headphones, answering phone calls, playing music, or watching their own videos. If a student’s use of electronic devices disrupts others, he/she may be asked to leave the room.

Recording any part of the lectures or class sessions in any form must first be approved by the instructor in writing and is for individual private study only.
