COURSE CALENDAR STATEMENT:

COURSE DESCRIPTION:
Religious Studies 327 is a selective survey of the philosophical, cultural, and historical aspects of Buddhist and related formations in Tibet. We initially consider the Indian Buddhist doctrines and practices that are often essentialized as "Buddhism," which nevertheless are necessary for understanding “Buddhism” as it developed in Tibet. The course then surveys the history of Buddhism in Tibet, from Buddhism’s introduction into this country up to the predominance of Tibet’s four principal Buddhist traditions. We then focus upon selected thematic topics such as the gradual stages to awakening (lam rim) literature, mind training (blo sbyong), buddha-nature, tantra, women in Tibetan Buddhism, life and institution of the Dalai Lama, along with the issues of orientalism and the modern interpretation of Tibetan Buddhist formations.

COURSE DELIVERY:
The course online content will be delivered in an asynchronous context (i.e., students complete on their own time learning activities such as discussion boards, watching videos, etc.). This course will take place online via Desire2Learn (D2L). To best succeed in the course, students are encouraged to participate in the asynchronous learning tasks using the D2L learning environment.
Course Organization and Requirements: The course is organized on a lecture/discussion basis following the topics and readings listed in the tentative schedule (see below). Students are expected to keep up with the reading schedule. Each student is required to write three exams and a term paper. The exams will be a combination of multiple choice, identification of terms and concepts, and/or short answer questions. Students should consult the lexicon of terminology at the end of the Powers required textbook to become familiar with concepts utilized in the course. The parameters for the term paper will be posted and distributed on the course D2L website.

Core Competencies: Students will gain university level skills in the study and understanding of Asian religion and culture with specific attention to Tibetan religious culture and history. Students will become familiar with the history and culture of Tibetan Buddhism including how Tibetan Buddhist religious traditions grew out of, and reflects, unique historical, geographical, and cultural conditions.

Required Readings, Textbooks, and Learning Materials (available at the UCalgary Bookstore)

The D2L course web site will list important announcements, electronic readings, important links to web pages, and downloadable documents.

LEARNING TECHNOLOGIES AND REQUIREMENTS

Principles and guidelines for supplementary fees that may be associated with additional technology requirements for courses can be found at: www.ucalgary.ca/calendar-scheduling/supplementary-fees.

There is a D2L site for this course which contains required readings and other relevant class resources and materials (see d2L.ucalgary.ca).

* For online, remote or blended courses:

In order to successfully engage in their learning experiences at the University of Calgary, students taking online, remote and blended courses are required to have reliable access to the following technology:

- A computer with a supported operating system, as well as the latest security, and malware updates;
- A current and updated web browser;
- Webcam (built-in or external);
- Microphone and speaker (built-in or external), or headset with microphone;
- Current antivirus and/or firewall software enabled;
- Broadband internet connection.
Tentative Lecture Material and Reading Schedule:

The following lecture schedule is subject to change. It may be modified if it appears to the instructor that the material is not being adequately covered in the allotted time. The amount of time devoted to particular topics is contingent on the instructor’s sense of what deserves greater emphasis as the course progresses. Remember, to be aware of changes occurring in the schedule and to receive any crucial information regarding the course, attention to course announcements on D2L is necessary. Keep in mind that all lectures constitute material that may appear on examinations. Remember, too, that it is not possible for the instructor to explain all the material contained in the readings—it is up to students to be familiar with the readings regardless of the extent to which the assigned texts are discussed in course lectures.

If a student cannot complete an exam during the 24-hour period on the date assigned for the test due to interruption to internet service or computer malfunction, the student must notify the instructor of the interruption to internet service within 24 hours after the test period via email. Students that require a makeup test are required to arrange a time with the instructor.
