Course Description: The focus of this course will be to read and analyze primary texts from Confucian, Daoist and Buddhist traditions in China. The texts are of a literary, philosophical and religious nature. Students will thereby be exposed to a variety of genres.

Online elements for this course: Some additional readings may be posted on D2L

Core Competencies: The aim is to facilitate the development of reading, interpretive and critical thinking skills, not only as a way of analyzing texts, but also to reflect on some of the assumptions that undergird our own societies. If you are the kind of student who hopes to fulfill course requirements without attending classes, this is probably not the course for you, since interpreting primary texts is a skill that is learned through practice. In other words, you will not simply be memorizing “information” but will be required to think.

Course Requirements:

Date	Assessment	Weight (%)	Required pass/fail
Oct 16 2018	Exam	40.00%	No
Nov 22, 2018	Written Assignment	50.00%	No
Nov 29, 2018	Exam	10.00%	No

There will be no registrar scheduled final exam for this class.

Grading

A numerical mark will be given for each course requirement. A letter grade will be assigned on the following number and letter grade scheme, usually used within the Department of Classics and Religion:

A+	100 - 96	A	95 - 90	A-	89 - 85
B+	84 - 80	B	79 - 75	B-	74 - 70
C+	69 - 65	C	64 - 60	C-	59 - 55
D+	54 - 53	D	52-50	F	Under 50

N.B. All written assignments will be graded with regard to both form and content.

*You may choose to count the exam for which you receive the highest grade for 40% and the other midterm for 10%. In other words, if your grade for the final in-class exam is higher than that of the mid-term, you may count that for 40%.

Policy with regard to missed assignments/assessments: Students must write all exams in order to pass the course. Exams must be written on the exam date. In the case of a missed exam, students must contact the instructor no later than 24 hours after the missed exams. All make-up exams will be held during the last week of classes and will be completely different from the original exam. Make-up exams are only allowed in cases of emergency and require official documentation (doctor's note, bereavement notice, police report).

WRITTEN ASSIGNMENTS

Assignments are designed to assist student in improving their writing, analytical and critical thinking skills. All assignments must be submitted to the instructor at the BEGINNING of the class of the day indicated.

There will be no remedial assignments to make up for bad grades.

Late papers will be marked down at a rate of 3% per day. Extensions will only be granted under exceptional circumstances and must be accompanied by proper documentation (i.e., medical certificate, etc.). Warning: I am very firm on due dates and policies on extensions and do not appreciate having my email flooded with all sorts of elaborate stories during the time period when assignments are due. Computer breakdown and having other assignments due at the same time are not valid reasons for extensions. It is your responsibility to start early enough in order to be able to complete the assignments. Do not wait until the last minute. Students are expected to make back-up copies of all their assignments and to submit hard copies.

Expectations for student conduct in this course: It is your responsibility to attend classes. I do not hand out lectures notes, nor do I post them online. If you miss a class, contact another student for notes.

Electronic Device Policy: Texting, tweeting, watching films, reading the news, surfing the internet and talking during class is not acceptable behaviour. Keep in mind that it is obvious to the instructor when you are engrossed in the internet or social media sites. Do not expect help outside of class time, if you are otherwise occupied in class.

Syllabus:

A complete syllabus will be made available the first week of class.
