Course Description

In an increasingly visually-oriented culture, are we losing the ability to access information about the world through hearing? What are the implications of sound for communication and learning? What is a soundscape? What is acoustemology???

Acoustic Ecology (AE) studies the effects of sound -- including speech, music, noise, and silence -- in natural and human environments, as well as its effects on health, cognition and culture. It is an emerging interdisciplinary field which weaves together aspects of physical sciences, health sciences, communication theory, cognitive psychology, sociology, musicology and aesthetics.

The field of Acoustic Communications (AC) is concerned with the ways in which speech, sound and music convey meaning. This course will provide an introduction to selected concepts, techniques and applications from AE and AC.

Additional Information

-There will be some fieldwork required outside of class time and possibly off campus.

-There will be some continuity of material between COMS 391 and COMS 381, but historical content in 391 will be interpreted in a different context.

--Because this course is about sound and listening, please let me know on the first day of classes if you have a significant hearing impairment.

Objectives of the Course

Participants will be expected to demonstrate the following skills upon completion of the course:

- Ability to learn and use descriptive terminology and mapping techniques for environmental sound;
- Ability to perceive and describe a variety of acoustic environments;
- Familiarity with concepts and issues presented in the course, including those related to acoustic communications and auditory culture;
- Ability to conceptualize, plan and complete individual and group assignments;
- Ability to write clearly and coherently in English.

Internet and electronic communication device information

Cellphones and pagers must be turned off during class unless you are a health care or law enforcement professional, or responsible for the care of a family member. Computers are welcome as long as they are used appropriately. Research and note-taking* are appropriate during class; social sites, Twitter, games, YouTube and e-mail are not.

**Be aware that recent research shows that taking lecture notes on a keyboard produces results that are inferior to handwriting:*

Midterm Exam -----30%	In class Oct. 16
Final Exam (in class) -----10%	In class Dec. 2
Participation: Exercises based on -----20%	Due as stated in Instructions below text &amp; lectures (2); in-class or D2L discussion, relevant questions, etc.

Note:

-All assignments must normally be completed or a grade of F may be assigned at the discretion of the instructor.

-You will be graded on the results of your work. Hard work does not merit an A unless it produces outstanding results.

Submission of written materials: Annotated bibliographies will be submitted in hard copy.

Papers and presentation scripts may be hard copy or electronic, depending on your topic: this will be determined for each group. If submitting electronically, be sure to title your file with the name of one group member.

It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of each submitted assignment.

Note: Please hand in your essays directly to your tutor or instructor if possible. If it is not possible to do so, a daytime drop box is available in SS320; a date stamp is provided for your use. A night drop box is also available for after-hours submission. Assignments will be removed the following morning, stamped with the previous day's date, and placed in the instructor's mailbox.

Instructions for Assignments

Fieldwork/Research Projects: These must be done in groups of 3 - 4 members.

Each group will choose a focus in AE (fieldwork) or AC (research), and prepare:

- a plan of research with an annotated bibliography of preliminary sources; and
- a presentation to the class OR a research paper.
- All topics must be cleared with the instructor; specific advice will be given to each group about methodology.

Topic areas for projects (topics will develop from these general categories):

Speech – as social glue, identity, or means of discrimination

Music – as communication, inspiration, and/or addiction

Noise – as celebration and/or hazard to health

Silence – as contemplation or restriction

-Focusing your topic:

AE: You may choose to describe and sound-map a place (e.g. business, neighbourhood, restaurant, rink). This usually involves a focus on environmental Noise or Music, or perhaps Silence (e.g. mapping the campus for quiet study spaces).

Comparing two or more examples can be a feasible approach; so can interviewing employees or residents about their reactions to a soundscape.

AC: Research for Speech can be focused on history (e.g. radio in WWII), sociology (e.g. how the voice changes in gender reassignment), biology (e.g. how birds communicate). Research for Music will focus on music as communication (but not the merits of your favourite band, please). Research for Silence can involve historical or biological approaches (e.g. the effects of quiet environments on stress reduction).

Topics about film soundtracks –Music and/or Speech --require at least one Film Studies major in your group; topics about Music require at least one group member trained in music.

-Outline & Annotated bibliography: This is a preliminary plan for your research project, including a statement of what you are investigating, what sources and methods you will use, how you plan to divide and carry out the work involved, and how you will ensure that work is fairly divided and that all group members do their share.

The annotated bibliography will consist of at least four written and/or recorded sources that will enable you to start your work, cited with correct bibliographic format (APA or MLA) and annotated with concise descriptions of each source, the author's or artist's background, and how the source will be useful to your project. Annotations are usually sufficient at 1 or 2 paragraphs. Length: avg. 3 pages.

-Presentation: Each group that chooses to do a presentation will present to the class, explaining their research methods and findings and incorporating audio and visual materials that will enhance the class's understanding of the project. This can take the form of a live or videotaped performance: in either case, the group must be prepared to answer questions on the work.

Presented and prerecorded projects must be accompanied by:

- a script and/or storyboard, or a detailed outline of contents;
  - a bibliography of all written and “clipped” sources;
  - a statement from each group member of what you learned from doing the project.
- Length: 20-30 minutes; depends on topic and number of presentations in schedule.

-Paper: Presentations are encouraged, but groups that choose some types of fieldwork projects may need to show their results in a research paper. Each group that does not present will hand in a research paper or equivalent comprehensive document on or before the deadline. Each paper or document must contain complete citations for all bibliographic sources, including audio and video clips, which may be included by means of URLs or recordings of 10 minutes or less. If you use recordings, be sure that they are clearly associated with the document, in the same manila envelope, and labeled with the project title and the name of at least one group member. This prevents losses. Length: Depends on topic and size of group; average 10-15 pages double-spaced for papers.
Due: 11/13

NOTE: All groups must hand in a document, whether script or formal paper. Each document must be clearly written, proofread, and accompanied by full bibliographic details.

-Exercises (for Participation grade): any two are required; you may choose to do all three.

1. Listen for 20 minutes to an auditory news broadcast – radio or podcast. Write a paragraph about how the words used, and the presenter's tone of voice, affected you. Did you believe the stories? Did you have questions? After the broadcast finished, how did you feel? Due: 9/18

Specify: The station or URL, the date & time. Length: 1-2 pages.

Sound mapping. After your scheduled in-class soundwalk -- which will be done in groups – you will develop a map of a different 20-30 minute (longer if you choose) soundwalking experience: your choice of place. Due 10/9

Specify: Time, date & place. Length: 1-2 pages.

Attend a live performance, on campus or off, of music or theatre. Write a brief essay about what you heard, how it affected you (Memories? Emotions? Images? Ideas?) and how the experience relates to the content of this course: integrate reference to a chapter of the textbook or an assigned article into your commentary. Due 10/30

Specify: Title of event, date, venue. Attach ticket stubs. Length: 2-3 pages.

(NB: prepare to concentrate on the sound, not on dancing, drinking, eating or socializing. You might enjoy the event in a completely new way.)

Policy for Late Assignments

Assignments submitted after the deadline may be penalized with the loss of a grade (e.g.: B to B-) for each day late. If you need an extension, ask ahead of time: they're possible with a good reason.

Registrar-scheduled Final Examination: No

All assignments and exams must normally be completed or a course grade of F may be assigned at the discretion of the instructor.

Submission of Assignments: Please hand in your essays directly to your instructor if possible. If it is not possible to do so, a daytime drop box is available in SS320; a date stamp is provided for your use. A night drop box is also available for after-hours submission. Assignments will be removed the following morning, stamped with the previous day's date, and placed in the instructor's mailbox. Some assignments may be suitable for downloading to D2L: this must be arranged with the instructor.

*Please include your name and ID number on all assignments, and be prepared to provide picture ID to pick up assignments or look at final exams in SS 320 after classes have ended. Personal information is collected in accordance with the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIP) Act. For more information, see <http://www.ucalgary.ca/secretariat/privacy>*

Note: It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of each submitted assignment. For courses in which assignments are submitted electronically, it is the student's responsibility to ensure that the correct copy of the assignment is submitted. (Including the version date or version number in your file name may help you avoid submitting the wrong version of your written assignments.)

Policy for Late Assignments

Assignments submitted after the deadline may be penalized with the loss of a grade (e.g.: A- to B+) for each day late. If you need an extension, ask ahead of time: they're possible with a good reason.

Students with Disabilities

If you are a student with a disability who may require academic accommodation, it is your responsibility to register with the Student Accessibility Services (220-8237, <http://www.ucalgary.ca/access/>) and discuss your needs with your instructor no later than 14 days after the start of the course.

Writing Skills Statement

Department policy directs that all written assignments (including, to a lesser extent, written exam responses) will be assessed at least partly on writing skills. For details see <http://comcul.ucalgary.ca/needtoknow>. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc) but also general clarity and organization. Sources used in research papers must be properly documented. If you need help with your writing, you may use the Writing Centre. Visit the website for more details: <http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/writing-support>

Plagiarism

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university.

You must document not only direct quotations but also paraphrases and ideas where they appear in your text. A reference list at the end is insufficient by itself. In-text citations must be provided, and readers must be able to tell exactly where your words and ideas end and other people's words and ideas begin. Wording taken directly from a source must be enclosed within quotation marks (or, for long quotations, presented in the format prescribed by the documentation style you are using). Paraphrased information must not follow the original wording and sentence structure with only slight word substitutions here and there. These requirements apply to all assignments and sources, including those in non-traditional formats such as Web pages or visual media.

For information on citation and documentation styles (including APA, Chicago, IEEE, MLA, and others), visit the links provided at <http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/node/208> . If you have questions about how to document sources, please consult your instructor or the Writing Centre (3rd Floor TFDL, <http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/writing-support>).

Academic Misconduct

For information on academic misconduct and its consequences, please see the University of Calgary Calendar at <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html>

Research Ethics

Whenever you perform research with human participants (i.e. surveys, interviews, observation) as part of your university studies, you are responsible for following university research ethics guidelines. Your instructor must review and approve of your research plans and supervise your research. For more information about your research ethics responsibilities, see <http://arts.ucalgary.ca/research/research/research-ethics>

If this course requires (or allows) students to conduct (or act as participants in) primary research involving surveys, interviews, or observations, state that here, describe the nature of students' participation, and indicate whether you have received course-based ethics approval from the Faculty Research Ethics Committee or if you expect students to apply for ethics approval themselves. NOTE: If you have not received course-based ethics approval and do not expect your students to apply on their own for research ethics clearance, then your course outline should not include any assignments requiring surveys, interviews, or other research with people.
