Course Description

The topic of this senior seminar is fan cultures. Fans used to be seen as an overly obsessive portion of the audience, but as we enter the digital age, fan cultures and practices have seeped into the mainstream. More importantly, the discussion of fandom in communication studies has centered around the active role of the fan in shaping new media content. Much of the discussion in audience reception has focused on fan practices and what they mean for conceptualizing the audience in the digital age. As media industries conglomerate and production and reception become increasingly intertwined, fan practices are on the radar of blockbuster studios as well as in the academy. In this seminar, we will analyze how fans and fan practices have evolved over the decades with specific attention to television and film, and what this reveals to us about audience reception scholarship for the millennium.

Additional Information

Please be aware that much of this course deals with the artifacts, experiences, and products of popular culture. As such, some of the material we study manifests coarse language, sexuality, and violence. If this is a problem for you, please see the instructor, and think carefully about whether this particular section of COMS 591 is the best fit for you.

This is an inquiry-based seminar, where students will be responsible for participating in discussion, leading discussion, conducting independent research and working as part of a group. Regular attendance is expected and participation will be crucial. Readings must be completed in advance of class, and students are expected to participate fully in seminar discussions of all assigned readings.

Objectives of the Course

COMS 591 has the following major objectives:

1. To provide you with the opportunity to co-ordinate and integrate the knowledge, skills, and experiences you have acquired during your studies;
2. To provide you with the opportunity to create a major research project drawing on course material and personal interests, which you will present to the class and expand into a formal research paper;
3. To encourage you to think and research across disciplinary boundaries;
4. To help prepare you for the expectations of graduate level study and professional work.

Textbooks and Readings

Required readings will be posted on D2L; please consult schedule of readings available May 14, 2015.

Students are expected to have all readings completed prior to scheduled class times (which includes quiz dates) in order to contribute effectively during class discussions and activities. A detailed schedule of readings will be distributed at the first lecture.

Additional required readings to be posted or linked on D2L throughout the semester – every week that there is a group presentation, there will be an additional assigned reading selected and posted by the presenting group. These additional required readings will be posted at least one week in advance of the class in which they will be discussed.

Internet and electronic communication device information

Laptops are permitted for note taking only. iPods, cellphones and gaming devices may not be used at all during class. Please respect the instructor and your fellow students. Improper use of electronic devices will impact your participation grade.

Assignments and Evaluation

Participation:	Weekly	10%
Group Presentation:	Throughout term (sign up)	25%
Research Proposal:	May 26	15%
Research Essay:	June 18	30%
Final Presentation:	June 23 & 25	20%

Participation:

Seminars are significantly different than lectures, and inherently require active participation. Participation is not measured solely by how often you speak up. Informed, thoughtful contributions to discussion are more important than frequent contributions. An ability to demonstrate familiarity with the required readings is also crucial. Attentive listening matters – students who interrupt others, distract their classmates, or use electronic devices in a way that distracts the instructor or other students will see an impact on their participation grade. Students are also expected to participate by engaging with the presentations of fellow students by attending presentations, asking questions, and offering thoughtful and constructive commentary.

Group Presentation:

For our classes between May 26 and June 18, a group will be responsible for leading our seminar discussion each week. A signup sheet for presentation groups will be available on the first day of class – those who do not sign up will be assigned to a group. Each group will be responsible for one topic area based on reading. As a group, you will select a fan culture that speaks strongly to your topic, as well as a required reading for the class. The reading might be one of the unassigned readings from your textbooks, or it might be a book chapter or journal article that you have found in your research that speaks well to either your particular show or your specific topic. You must provide the required reading to the instructor at least one week in advance of your presentation. The instructor will approve your reading (both for content and copyright clearance) and circulate it to the class. As a group, you will be responsible for presenting the fan culture and its practices, analyzing the group's connection to your topic (ideally by utilizing your selected reading), and leading the class in discussion. Groups are strongly advised to arrange a meeting with the instructor to discuss your plans for the presentation. Working together effectively will be crucial for this group project, as it composes a significant component of your course grade, and unless there is extraordinarily compelling evidence to indicate otherwise, all group members will receive the same grade.

Research Proposal:

Your research proposal will outline the analysis you intend to undertake for your research essay. This proposal should be no more than 350 words (excluding bibliography), and should identify your research question, its relevance to the course, and your plan for how to engage with your question (through primary research, secondary research, or a combination thereof). Your proposal should also include a preliminary annotated bibliography of five scholarly sources that you expect to be useful in the preparation of your essay. More information on the research proposal will be provided in class and on D2L.

Research Essay:

The research essay for this course gives you an opportunity to combine out-of-class research with the topics explored in the seminar. Please note: Topics pursued in the group projects CANNOT be discussed in the final paper. Papers should be 2300-2500 words in length, and should be double-spaced, in a 12 point font, with one inch margins. Citations must be in APA format. Word count should appear on the front page of your essay. More information on the research essay will be provided in class and on D2L.

Final Presentation:

Your final presentation is an individual oral presentation on your research essay. You will have to present a summary of your research – your topic, your theoretical/analytical framework, your findings – followed by questions from your instructor and classmates. All presentations will take place in the final two classes of the semester, so the presentation time limits will be enforced!

Registrar-scheduled Final Examination: No

All assignments and exams must be completed or a course grade of F may be assigned at the discretion of the instructor.

Submission of Assignments: Please hand in your essays directly to your tutor or instructor if possible. If it is not possible to do so, a daytime drop box is available in SS320; a date stamp is provided for your use. A night drop box is also available for after-hours submission. Assignments will be removed the following morning, stamped with the previous day's date, and placed in the instructor's mailbox.

Please include your name and ID number on all assignments, and be prepared to provide picture ID to pick up assignments or look at final exams in SS 320 after classes have ended. Personal information is collected in accordance with the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIP) Act. For more information, see <http://www.ucalgary.ca/secretariat/privacy>

Note: It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of each submitted assignment. For courses in which assignments are submitted electronically, it is the student's responsibility to ensure that the correct copy of the assignment is submitted. (Including the version date or version number in your file name may help you avoid submitting the wrong version of your written assignments.)

Policy for Late Assignments

Assignments submitted after the deadline may be penalized with the loss of a grade (e.g.: A- to B+) for each day late.

Students with Disabilities

If you are a student with a disability who may require academic accommodation, it is your responsibility to register with the Student Accessibility Services (220-8237, <http://www.ucalgary.ca/access/>) and discuss your needs with your instructor no later than 14 days after the start of the course.

Writing Skills Statement

Department policy directs that all written assignments (including, to a lesser extent, written exam responses) will be assessed at least partly on writing skills. For details see <http://comcul.ucalgary.ca/needtoknow>. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc) but also general clarity and organization. Sources used in research papers must be properly documented. If you need help with your writing, you may use the Writing Centre. Visit the website for more details: <http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/writing-support>

Plagiarism

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university.

You must document not only direct quotations but also paraphrases and ideas where they appear in your text. A reference list at the end is insufficient by itself. In-text citations must be provided, and readers must be able to tell exactly where your words and ideas end and other people's words and ideas begin. Wording taken directly from a source must be enclosed within quotation marks (or, for long quotations, presented in the format prescribed by the documentation style you are using). Paraphrased information must not follow the original wording and sentence structure with only slight word substitutions here and there. These requirements apply to all assignments and sources, including those in non-traditional formats such as Web pages or visual media.

For information on citation and documentation styles (including APA, Chicago, IEEE, MLA, and others), visit the links provided at <https://ucalgary.ca/ssc/resources/writing-support/436>. If you have questions about how to document sources, please consult your instructor or the Writing Centre (3rd Floor TFDL, <http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/writing-support>).
