Course Description

The horror film is one of cinema's most durable genres, having gone through countless permutations over time. Often horror films are understood as being linked directly to the unconscious anxieties of the societies that spawn them – to understand a culture, we must know what it fears. This class examines the “classical period” of the horror film, from its inception till 1960, when Psycho is generally understood as marking a key turning point in the genre's history. It covers such material as the German and American silent horror traditions, the Universal Horror classics like Dracula and Frankenstein, Val Lewton's famously elegant and moody horror films, 50s paranoid and gimmick films, and Hammer Pictures' bloody and colourful new visions. A major ambition of this class is to show how horror can serve as a “gateway drug” into a fascinating set of historical and critical issues of race, gender, science, politics and more. What do these horror films tell us about the cultures that produced them? How do they construct “monstrosity”, and how do we see the road to the horror films of our time displayed in these early films?

Additional Information

Attendance at lectures, screenings and tutorials, and informed participation are essential components of this course and will help determine your final grade. Students must come to class prepared to discuss the required reading.

WHAT YOU MUST DO EVERY WEEK TO DO WELL IN THE COURSE:

- Read the weekly material assigned.
- Take notes while you read.
- Bring the readings to class, both lecture and discussion, so you can refer back to the readings if needed.
- Always bring your syllabus to class to get a sense of where we are in the evolution of the course.

- Try not to miss any lectures and discussion groups.
- Even if you have seen the scheduled film already, you should watch it again and refresh your memory. “I have seen this film several times,” is not an excuse for not attending class or leaving before the screening.
- Develop the ability to take concise notes that capture the essence of the lecture. I will sometimes include lengthy quotes in my powerpoint slides.
- Go over your notes and reading(s) right after each week’s lecture on Monday.

CLASSROOM DECORUM:

- Return to your seat on time after taking a short break after the lecture and before the screening. The short break is usually about 10 minutes, sufficient for going to the washroom or stretching a bit, but not for going to the cafeteria.
- Don’t chat with your friends during classes and screenings. And turn off your cell phone.

Objectives of the Course

In addition to interrogating this era of horror films in particular, this course is also designed to deliver the fundamentals of genre analysis in general.

Internet and electronic communication device information

This course observes a strict laptop and cell phone policy. Laptops are for note-taking only. Likewise, texting and cell phone use is not permitted during class time: turn off these devices when you arrive at the classroom to avoid embarrassment and annoyance.

Textbooks and Readings:

Readings will be made available to the students electronically. All readings are required.

Assignments and Evaluation

25% Dracula Assignment, due October 6

This assignment examines questions of genre definition and evolution through analysis of different adaptations of the novel Dracula. Students will submit a paper of 5-6 pages. An assignment sheet will be submitted early in the course.

35% Second Assignment, November 17

This assignment compares one film screened in class with another of the student’s choice (out of a list), interrogating either depictions of race, gender or science. An assignment sheet will be submitted mid-course.

30% Final Exam (to be scheduled by registrar)

This examination will be a mix of short answer and essay questions.

10% Participation Mark (ongoing)

Students are expected to attend both lectures and labs and participate in classroom discussion. Marks will be assigned determined by the quality and volume of participation.

Registrar-scheduled Final Examination: Yes

All assignments and exams must be completed or a course grade of F may be assigned at the discretion of the instructor.

Policy for Late Assignments

Assignments submitted after the deadline may be penalized with the loss of a grade (e.g.: A- to B+) for each day late.

Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act

This course is conducted in accordance with the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIP). As one consequence, students should identify themselves on all written work by placing their name on the front page and their ID number. Also you will be required to provide a piece of picture identification in order to pick up an assignment or look at a final exam from SS320 after classes have ended. For more information see also <http://www.ucalgary.ca/secretariat/privacy>.

Writing Skills Statement

Department policy directs that all written assignments (including, although to a lesser extent, written exam responses) will be assessed at least partly on writing skills. For details see <http://comcul.ucalgary.ca/needtoknow>. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc) but also general clarity and organization. Research papers must be properly documented.

If you need help with your writing, you may use the Writing Centre. Visit the website for more details: <http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/writing-support>

All assignments and exams must be completed or a course grade of F may be assigned at the discretion of the instructor.

Submission of Assignments: Please hand in your essays directly to your tutor or instructor if possible. If it is not possible to do so, a daytime drop box is available in SS320; a date stamp is provided for your use. A night drop box is also available for after-hours submission. Assignments will be removed the following morning, stamped with the previous day's date, and placed in the instructor's mailbox.

Please include your name and ID number on all assignments, and be prepared to provide picture ID to pick up assignments or look at final exams in SS 320 after classes have ended. Personal information is collected in accordance with the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIP) Act. For more information, see <http://www.ucalgary.ca/secretariat/privacy>

Note: It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of each submitted assignment. For courses in which assignments are submitted electronically, it is the student's responsibility to ensure that the correct copy of the assignment is submitted. (Including the version date or version number in your file name may help you avoid submitting the wrong version of your written assignments.)

Policy for Late Assignments

Assignments submitted after the deadline may be penalized with the loss of a grade (e.g.: A- to B+) for each day late.

Students with Disabilities

If you are a student with a disability who may require academic accommodation, it is your responsibility to register with the Student Accessibility Services (220-8237, <http://www.ucalgary.ca/access/>) and discuss your needs with your instructor no later than 14 days after the start of the course.

Grading System & Dept of Communication and Culture Grade Scale

Work in this course will be graded using letter grades. The following grade scale percentage equivalents are used in Communication and Culture:

Grade Point Value	Description	Grade	Department grade scale equivalents	Letter grade % equivalent for calculations
4.00	Outstanding	A+	96 - 100%	98.0%
4.00	Excellent—superior performance, showing comprehensive understanding of subject matter.	A	90 - 95.99%	93.0%
3.70		A -	85 - 89.99%	87.5%
3.30		B+	80 - 84.99%	82.5%
3.00	Good--clearly above average performance with knowledge of subject matter generally complete.	B	75 - 79.99%	77.5%
2.70		B-	70 - 74.99%	72.5%
2.30		C+	65 - 69.99%	67.5%
2.00	Satisfactory—basic understanding of the subject matter.	C	60 - 64.99%	62.5%
1.70		C-	55 - 59.99%	57.5%
1.30	Minimal pass—marginal performance;	D+	53 - 54.99%	54.0%

	generally insufficient preparation for subsequent courses in the same subject
1.00		D	50 - 52.99%	51.5%
0.00	Fail – unsatisfactory performance or failure to meet course requirements.	F	00 - 49.99%	0%

Plagiarism

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university.

You must document not only direct quotations but also paraphrases and ideas where they appear in your text. A reference list at the end is insufficient by itself. In-text citations must be provided, and readers must be able to tell exactly where your words and ideas end and other people’s words and ideas begin. Wording taken directly from a source must be enclosed within quotation marks (or, for long quotations, presented in the format prescribed by the documentation style you are using). Paraphrased information must not follow the original wording and sentence structure with only slight word substitutions here and there. These requirements apply to all assignments and sources, including those in non-traditional formats such as Web pages or visual media.

For information on citation and documentation styles (including APA, Chicago, IEEE, MLA, and others), visit the links provided at <http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/node/208> . If you have questions about how to document sources, please consult your instructor or the Writing Centre (3rd Floor TFDL, <http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/writing-support>).

Academic Misconduct

For information on academic misconduct and its consequences, please see the University of Calgary Calendar at <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html>

Research Ethics

Whenever you perform research with human participants (i.e. surveys, interviews, observation) as part of your university studies, you are responsible for following university research ethics guidelines. Your instructor must review and approve of your research plans and supervise your research. For more information about your research ethics responsibilities, see <http://arts.ucalgary.ca/research/research/research-ethics>
